

Bonjour & Bienvenue!!

I am Madame Fox the French teacher at Highcrest.

It is so exciting to think that in a very short while we will be speaking, singing, reading and writing in the French together. We will be learning all about the language and culture of the people who speak French all over the world! Before we do that, though, I look forward to getting to know you and finding out what made your summer special. During these past weeks of vacation, I have tried to squeeze in as many French moments with family and friends as possible. A summer highlight was that my husband and I visited New Orleans and explored the French Quarter of the city which was "magnifique!"

I would bet that you might have had a French moment or two also (whether you realized it or not . . . ) Did you eat a croissant, watch a movie set in Paris, go to the Art Institute and see an impressionist painting, watch The World Cup?? So many French-inspired things happen in our lives daily and I hope to help you see that you might have experienced a little "français" already.

À Bientot!!

☺ Madame Fox

Madame & Monsieur Fox in the French Quarter, New Orleans!!